Love prayers and historical investigation

Yazu-cho has two legends: the descent of Amaterasu and the legend of the white rabbit. People have had faith in the white rabbit god since ancient times. In addition, one of the places connected with the white rabbit, which played the role of cupid for Okuninushi no mikoto and Yakamihime in the famous story of the "white rabbit of Inaba," is "Hakuto-jinja Shrine" in Yazu-cho Fukumoto. Why not go on a journey of love prayer and learning the history and culture of Yazu-cho while touring the spots connected with the rabbit?

Yazu-cho mascot character
Yazuppyon
(やずぴよん)

This is a mascot character that originated from the Hakuto legend handed down to Yazu-cho. Its ears have the form of a Y for YAZU. It promotes special products such as "Hangosyo persimmons" from Yazu-cho wearing and wears a helmet and a motorcycle rider suit as it likes "Hayabusa Station"

Legend of Amaterasu Omikami korin (the descent to earth) and legend of white rabbit

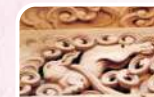

A long time ago, when Amaterasu Omikami, who ruled the heavens, descended to earth in Yakami-gun (in the area which now includes Yazu-cho), a white rabbit took the hem of her robes and led her to a Karinomiya (temporary lodging built for an Imperial visit). The white rabbit that led Amaterasu Omikami was worshiped as an incarnation of the god "Dohakuto Daimyōjin", and even now, it is enshrined as an important guardian deity of this land.
